

Hochkar Open 2012: the Fight for the Most Stylish Airs is Over!

Higher, faster, further: on Saturday, the 28th of January the freestyle elite met up in the Senoner'park Hochkar, in order to match each other in hot head to head battles! In the categories Men and Ladies, the riders gave it their all, showcasing their skills on an exquisitely shaped Big Air Kicker. Michael "Stani" Stanschitz won the Snowboard Contest!

Even before sunrise, the Shapecrew had catered for a perfectly shaped kicker, which should become the riders' battle ground in the contest and thanks to a perfectly sunny day it looked just spot on! As is custom at the Hochkar Open, also this year the tension increased to the breaking point. Small wonder: 1,000€ prize money, massive TSG and Sport Senoner Goodies and the prospect on credits for the QParks Snowboard Tour, meaning loads of glory, made it easy for the riders to be motivated for the contest. The riders gave it their all, battling each other on a massive Big Air Kicker by every trick in the book!

The snowboard contest was positively nail-biting. Here, local Michael "Stani" Stanschitz won the battle, delighting judges and spectators alike. Maja Löfvenmark turned out to be the snowboarding queen of the day. "Stani" was absolutely stoked by his home win: "I made it up the mountain quite late and missed the training. Still, I entered the finals, which was just great! I loved the fact that the kicker was even bigger this year and I was able to show many stylish tricks. The Hochkar Open is my home contest, so being part of it really is something special to me. My whole family is here and that really gives my confidence a boost!"

Marvin Salmina, who managed to enter the top three, convinced the judges and showed the Best Trick. The young snowboarder Florian Prietl had a real surprise in store: because he was the only rookie registered, he was entered into the Men's contest – and managed to make it into the finals. He had to surrender to the winner, which he isn't ashamed of, however: "I never thought I'd come this far, I'm absolutely stoked! I've already taken part in a few contests of the QParks Snowboard Tour and there are more to come, which I want to be part of, too!" Once again, the QParks Snowboard Tour as well as the Hochkar Open proved to be the perfect step stones for young talents: Albert Senoner, main sponsor and benefactor of the Senoner'park Hochkar and the contest alike was so taken by Florian Prietl's skills, that without much ado he offered the rookie a one-year sponsoring: "I was instantly stoked by Florian's riding level! He really deserves to be supported!"

DRAMA | GLORY
WWW.QPARKSTOUR.COM

Here are the first results:

Snowboard Men	Snowboard Ladies
1. Michael Stanschitz	1. Maja Löfvenmark
2. Flo Galler	2. Lisi Wurzenberger
3. Marvin Salmina
4. Pitter Patrick
5. Viktor Szigeti

>>> Best Trick Snowboard: Marvin Salmina

Here is the full result list!

But not only the Big Air contest itself was a sight to be seen. A DJ pampered the audience with electrifying beats, providing the perfect priming coat for the competition. At the traditional BBQ, no one had to go hungry and Albert Senoner himself once again took the opportunity to care for the sizzling steaks and sausages. His upshot on the contest: "It was absolutely massive: perfect weather, high riding levels, many people – this really is as good as it gets!"

The QParks Snowboard Tour Continues!

Already next week, on Saturday, the 4th of February 2012, the QParks Snowboard Tour will move on to Germany, at the TWO FIFTY Masters Feldberg. All freestylers will again get the chance to demonstrate their skills in a massive contest. Learn more about it here!

For more recent information and news, go to snowboard.qparkstour.com or visit the Facebook Fanpages of the QParks Snowboard Tour. Stay tuned for drama and glory!

DRAMA | GLORY
WWW.QPARKSTOUR.COM